Subject: illbruck SB860, no CE certification

Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to certify that illbruck SB860 is a butyl membrane from a Tremco illbruck manufactory and we are eager to supply the best products in the biggest respect of the legislation.

CE certification is applicable to products and their installation domain which are covered by Harmonized European Standard, currently, this is not the case for illbruck SB860. Of course when the situation changes, we will adapt our certification.

Hope the above clarifies this issue, shall you require any further support, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Best regards.

Alice NESSIUS
